

Resources available online anytime:

The Lenox Library website [lenoxlib.org] has many options available for patrons to enjoy library resources and programs from home.

Use the Library Services dropdown menu for more information about:

- The Libby App [libbyapp.com] includes eBooks and eAudiobooks, as well as Indieflix, Qello Concerts, and The Great Courses.
- Kanopy [lenoxlib.kanopy.com] is a movie streaming service, which includes classic cinema, documentaries, foreign films, and children's programming.
- Virtual Author Talks [libraryc.org/lenoxlib] feature a range of talks from bestselling authors and thought leaders. Each talk features the opportunity to participate in an interactive author Q&A. In addition, access archived programs on demand.

Lenox Library also offers online database access on the Reference Resources page (click the Research dropdown menu). Databases include digital access to Consumer Reports, current issues of the New York Times and the Berkshire Eagle, historical newspaper databases, and more.

Homebound Delivery Pilot Program

In order to provide all of our patrons access to Lenox Library and CW MARS collections, we now offer limited Home Delivery.

Lenox Library

18 Main Street
Lenox, Massachusetts 01240
(413) 637-0197 || www.lenoxlib.org

Homebound Delivery Application

Name

Street Address

Phone

Email

Why do you need this service?

Start Date

End Date

Lenox Library Homebound Delivery Program

- Patrons will order books, audiobooks, DVDs, and music CDs on-line from CW MARS. Help placing holds is also available by phone or email.
- Staff will drop off and pick up requested items weekly
- Deliveries will not be made in inclement weather
- Only library materials will be delivered

Program Criteria

This service is available to any Lenox resident holding a Lenox Library card and who is homebound due to:

- Permanent physical disability
- Visual impairment
- Temporary limitations due to recovery from surgery, injury, or illness

Please complete the application on the left, tear off, and return it to the Circulation Desk. Or you may call the Library at (413) 637-0197.